This is a typeset copy of the redacted 448 page Mueller Report that has been formatted by an actual human. You won't find any biased commentary here, just the report. Includes Volume I and II and all four appendices. Read the Mueller Report, the result of a nearly two-year Special Counsel investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election. The report was submitted to Attorney General William Barr on March 22, 2019. On April 18, 2019, a redacted version of the report was released to Congress and the public by the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ). Volume I focuses on Russian interference and allegations of conspiracy. Volume II details potential instances of obstruction of justice. Featuring: Trumps attempted interference in the investigation Russian Social Media bots Trump ordering campaign staff to find Clinton emails Trumps firing of James Comey Trump Tower Meeting and much more!

This paper is one of a series being prepared for the National Research Council's Committee on International Conflict Resolution. The committee was organized in late 1995 to respond to a growing need for prevention, management, and resolution of violent conflict in the international arena, a concern about the changing nature and context of such conflict in the post-Cold War era, and a recent expansion of knowledge in the field. The committee's main goal is to advance the practice of conflict resolution by using the methods and critical attitude of science to examine the effectiveness of various techniques and concepts that have been advanced for preventing, managing, and resolving international conflicts. The committee's research agenda has been designed to supplement the work of other groups, particularly the Carnegie Corporation of New York's Commission on Preventing Deadly Conflict, which issued its final report in December 1997. The committee has identified a number of specific techniques and concepts of current interest to policy practitioners and has asked leading specialists on each one to carefully review and analyze available knowledge and to summarize what is known about the conditions under which each is or is not effective. These papers present the results of their work.
